Innovation Is Our Future.

AngioDynamics Today

AngioDynamics designs, develops, manufactures and markets a broad line of innovative medical devices used by interventional radiologists, surgeons, and other physicians for the minimally invasive treatment of cancer and peripheral vascular disease.

Established in 1988 as a research and development facility for products used in interventional radiology, the company has grown rapidly and expanded its product lines to keep pace with the demand for cost-effective and minimally invasive procedures across a variety of medical applications.

In January of 2007, AngioDynamics entered the growing interventional oncology market through its acquisition of RITA Medical Systems. The acquisition, which included staff and facilities in California, Georgia and Belgium, created a larger, more diversified medical technologies company, and established AngioDynamics as the US share of market leader in minimally invasive, focal cancer therapies. As part of the integration of the two companies, the sales organization has been expanded into two product groups – interventional and oncology – which enables AngioDynamics to better serve its customers.

Improving Patient Care

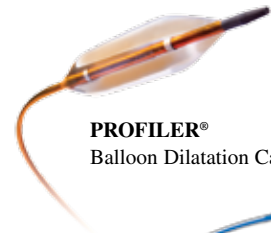

Much of AngioDynamics' success comes from its ability to develop new, ground-breaking products as well as enhance existing ones. In the past year, the company has launched many successful new products, including: Smart Port™ CT vascular access port; Profiler® balloon dilatation catheter; NeverTouch™ VenaCure®, improved vascular therapy for the treatment of varicose veins; and most recently UniBlate™, a single needle radio frequency electrode for multiple small lesion ablations.

With the addition of RITA's complementary products to its existing market basket, AngioDynamics now boasts a diverse product line that includes radiofrequency ablation systems, vascular access products, angiographic products and accessories, dialysis products, angioplasty products, drainage products, thrombolytic products, embolization products and venous products.

Though the company's initial product focus has expanded in the nearly 20 years since it was established, one constant is AngioDynamics' commitment to quality, integrity, and innovation as the company continues to explore and implement ways to exceed customer expectations. Looking into the future, AngioDynamics plans to bring forth a continuing stream of developments that greatly improve patient care by providing the highest quality, best performing products.
